

NAME: _____

The following questions concern quotation marks and commas used in dialogue.

Circle the most correct use of both for each question.

- 1A) "Please don't eat bowls of mayonnaise for breakfast." the licensed nutrition offered.
1B) Please don't eat bowls of mayonnaise for breakfast, "the licensed nutrition offered."
1C) "Please don't eat bowls of mayonnaise for breakfast," the licensed nutrition offered.
1D) "Please don't eat bowls of mayonnaise for breakfast" the licensed nutrition offered.
- 2A) She stated firmly, "I take no hard stances on anything at all."
2B) She stated firmly. "I take no hard stances on anything at all."
2C) She stated firmly, "I take no hard stances on anything at all,"
2D) "She stated firmly," I take no hard stances on anything at all.
- 3A) "There's nothing more fun than..." murmured the man who has never had fun.
3B) "There's nothing more fun than...," murmured the man who has never had fun.
3C) "There's nothing more fun than...", murmured the man who has never had fun.
3D) There's nothing more fun than... murmured the man who has never had fun.
- 4A) "But," Richard Clownshoes interrupted. "My name isn't that funny, right?"
4B) "But." Richard Clownshoes interrupted, "My name isn't that funny, right?"
4C) "But," Richard Clownshoes interrupted, My name isn't that funny, right?
4D) "But," Richard Clownshoes interrupted, "My name isn't that funny, right?"
- 5A) "No!" The chef yelled. The crowd held silent. "I'm out of salt!", the chef continued.
5B) "No!," The chef yelled. The crowd held silent, "I'm out of salt!" the chef continued.
5C) "No!" The chef yelled. The crowd held silent, "I'm out of salt!" the chef continued.
5D) "No!" The chef yelled. The crowd held silent. "I'm out of salt!" the chef continued.
- 6A) "Am I ugly?", asked the roach. "Yes," began the zookeeper, "but you are also a roach."
6B) "Am I ugly?" asked the roach, "Yes," began the zookeeper, "but you are also a roach."
6C) "Am I ugly?" asked the roach. "Yes," began the zookeeper. "But you are also a roach."
6D) "Am I ugly?" asked the roach. "Yes," began the zookeeper, "but you are also a roach."
- 7A) "AAAAHHHHHHHHHH!!!!" she whispered softly, again.
7B) AAAAHHHHHHHHHH!!!! she whispered softly, again.
7C) "AAAAHHHHHHHHHH!!!!", she whispered softly, again.
7D) "AAAAHHHHHHHHHH!!!!," she whispered softly, again.